

THE NEWES from AMERICA

THE FAMOUS COLONIAL PUB AT THE KELLEY HOUSE IN THE VILLAGE OF EDGARTOWN, MARTHA'S VINEYARD, 508 627-4397

THAT'S NEWES TO ME!

Little-Known Facts to Amaze Your Friends

Hitching a Ride South

GEOLOGICAL SAMPLING and fossil data gave scientists the first clues, in the early 1920s, that something was up. Since then, of course, satellite research has explained the mystery: Apparently, on the great jigsaw puzzle called Planet Earth, our little island occupies a separate tectonic plate from the continental United States. According to cryptogeologist Roberta Sturz, of the Tuco Institute, the Vineyard was once situated off the coast of Greenland and is on an eons-long journey southward. "Eventually Martha's Vineyard's closest neighbor will be Key West," she says. But don't throw away that parka quite yet. At our current cruising speed, we won't be enjoying homegrown Key Lime Pie for another 40 million years.

Pilgrims in Black & White

MARTHA'S VINEYARD'S first skunks were brought in 1545 by explorer Bartholomew Gosnold, who also gave the Island its name. For brief time in history, skunks were kept aboard English seafaring vessels because they were thought to displace their more dangerous Plague-bearing ship-mates, the rats. When English settlers first arrived, native Americans took one whiff and named them Sumnapoopoe, a Wampanoag term meaning "smelly ones."

Shooting the Breeze

IT WAS THE CUSTOM, in colonial Edgartown, when coming to dinner at someone's house, for the guest to bring a gift of what was called "a box of breezes." This was nothing more than a handful of stories - probably local gossip - that the host and other guests had not heard. Around the dinner table, guests would "swap breezes" or (as the phrase was known when it became widespread) "trade winds." Gradually this term was appropriated for nautical use and lost its original meaning.

Stone-Eating Trees

TREES are not the hot commodity they used to be. Once indispensable for use in the hearth and for building homes and ships, wood was in such demand that, up to the 1920s...

Newes Lager Kegged for The Newes, this golden lager combines three types of malts, creating a clean well-balanced drinking experience.	6	9
Lime 'n' Light Lager Our House Light with a touch of Rose's lime juice. The lime adds a new dimension of flavor and refreshment.	6	9
Steel Rail Extra Pale Ale Deerfield, Massachusetts 7 BBC's flagship brew is a light colored, medium bodied extra pale ale.		10
Long Trail - Limbo IPA Bridgewater, Vermont 7 Big, mouth watering IPA brimming with all the flavors and aromas of the new breed of hops.		10
Allagash Dubbel Portland, Maine 7 Allagash Dubbel boasts a deep red color and a complex malty taste. The finish is dry with subtle hints of chocolate and nuts. The yeast asserts itself by lending a classic Belgian fruitiness. Served in a 10oz. specialty glass.		10
Bad Martha's Vineyard Honey Ale Edgartown 7 Our sultry golden ale blends Martha's Vineyard honey with come hither Pilsner malt and a kiss of German noble hops for a yummy, smooth finish.		10
Harpoon Brewery Seasonal Boston, Massachusetts 7 Massachusetts Bay Brewing Company produces the best handcrafted beers in the state to compliment each season. The IPA, Oktoberfest, and Celtic Red Ale are all distinctive and a "must try" for the serious beer drinker. Ask your server which brew is currently on tap.		10
Offshore Nut Brown Ale Martha's Vineyard 7 Brewed right here on Martha's Vineyard, this nut-brown ale is a sweet, nutty, caramel flavored ale. Dark amber in color, this brew is light to medium bodied. Gold Medal winner at the Great American Beer Festival.		10
Drayman's Porter Deerfield, Massachusetts 7 Robust and aromatic, this rich Berkshire Brewing Company porter is a full bodied, dark ruby-brown ale, slightly sweet with notes of chocolate malt and coffee married to a delicate hop bitterness and flavor. Its complex aroma and smooth taste embody all that a dark beer should be.		10
Guinness Stout Dublin, Ireland 7 World famous Guinness is made from four natural ingredients; water, barley-malted & roasted, hops and yeast. It's the roasted barley that gives Guinness it's ruby red color.		10

...Martha's Vineyard was nearly devoid of oaks, maples and beeches. Bearing almost no resemblance to today's lushly forested Island, the Vineyard of old was a place of rolling pastures separated by the occasional meandering stone wall. Take a walk through one of the many wildlife preserves and you'll still find walls trailing nonsensically between trees. In well-documented cases, local trees have been known to swallow large rocks, gradually engulfing them completely within their trunks and covering them over with bark.

IF I HAD A NICKEL...
*Telling Heads from Tails
When You're Handed
A Wooden Nickel*

AT THE NEWES you get a wooden nickel for each short draught and two nickels for every tall draught purchased. Collect 500 and your name goes on our Declaration of Distinction and USE of our custom tankards. This Custom Tankard is displayed in the bar, ready for you to drink from whenever you come in!

Collect another 500 and your name goes on our Declaration of Superiority, as well as on a brass plaque on one of our bar stools. This is your bar stool, whenever you come in, for a full year. Maintain proprietorship by collecting 500 more nickels by year's end.

If all bar stools have names on them, your name goes on a waiting list. When a patron fails to turn in 500 nickels before his/her anniversary, the person at the top of the list gets the stool.

"Team collecting" is fine, but remember - only one person reaps the rewards!
